

Press Release

Seahorse Laboratories Managing Director wins prestigious NHS Healthcare Science “Service Innovation” Award

London, 23 March 2015: Professor Arthur T. Tucker, Managing Director of Seahorse Laboratories, wins 'Service Innovator of the Year' at this year's Healthcare Science Awards, held on Monday 16th March in London.

Presented by Prof Sue Hill OBE, Chief Scientific Officer of NHS England, the win reflects the hard work of Prof. Tucker and his teams over recent years, in the areas of meeting unmet clinical need, medical device and pharmaceutical development, infection control and Research Ethics.

“I am privileged to accept this award as recognition of the value our teams have been able to provide.” said Prof. Tucker "All of us at Seahorse Laboratories look forward to further improving the experiences of patients, practitioners and sponsors through the advanced provision of specialised research enabled services.

ABOUT SEAHORSE LABORATORIES LTD

Founded by a management team of clinical scientists, physicians, laboratory experts and business development specialists, Seahorse Laboratories Ltd is a privately owned and academically centred Core Laboratory Analytics and Distribution services company that specialises in the provision of turnkey solutions for biopharmaceutical and medical device companies including sales, analysis and distribution capabilities within emerging regions.

For additional information, please visit www.seahorse-labs.com

For enquiries, contact: info@seahorse-labs.com